AKUBRA
The authentic quality hat

Australian owned and operated for over 130 years Akubra (Aboriginal for "head covering") has been crafting hats from start to finish, with no less than 11 separate procedures. The Akubra hat felt is made from the soft underside of rabbit, interlocked in every direction to make the lightest, strongest and most water repellent fabric known to man. The natural water proofing qualities of the animal fibres themselves also add extra protection. With the increased awareness of skin cancer, Akubra hats are more popular than ever. Designed with features including wider brims and a UPF rating of 50+ you are assured of maximum protection from the sun. The iconic Akubra has been worn by Service Men and Women, Politicians, Olympians, Celebrities, Royalty and of course the hard working country men and women, loyal to the Akubra brand.

Hard Yakka
A HISTORY OF HARD

In the 1930's, David K Laidlaw began a small clothing company in his parent's house in Brunswick Victoria. Unsure of what to call his newly founded company, he approached an independent advertising agency and together they settled on 'Yakka', an aboriginal word for work. The company narrowed its focus to workwear and Hard Yakka as we know it today was born. Today, Hard Yakka continues to grow and innovate in the workwear space, recognizing the need for functional, fashionable work and footwear.

 KingGee

Established in Sydney by Mr Robert Adcock, KingGee has been part of Australian history since 1926. Over the years, KingGee have evolved with the changing needs of the work environment. Today, our passion and expertise are second to none. We lead the industrial workwear industry and push the boundaries of garment development to new levels. We have come a long way since our first KingGee overall. One thing has never changed – our pride and care is still seen today in our products and in our people.

Levi's are building on their heritage to move the company forward, to be as innovative and relevant to today's consumers — and tomorrow's — as they were when they invented the blue jean nearly 150 years ago. Millions of people around the world have grown up with Levi's® blue jeans and Dockers® khakis. From their products to practices, innovation is integral and sustainability is as essential as fabric and thread.

MKM
WORKWEAR MADE IN NEW ZEALAND

The Manawatu Knitting Mills (MKM) collection consists of the high quality iconic NZ clothing, specializing in natural fibres which includes Merino wool and Possum. MKM garments guarantee the wearer superior comfort, warmth, durability and style. With a range consisting of Shearers Singlets to luxurious Possum Jerseys, MKM have a style for you. So whether you are working the farm, walking the Heaphy Track or wandering your favourite city, MKM will have you covered.

Founded in NZ in 1913 by William Broome, Swannndri became synonymous for it's wool 'Bush Shirt'. Broome recognized that farmers and forestry workers were not equipped for the tough conditions of a Taranaki winter and this becoming the inspiration for the development of the first Swannndri Bush Shirt. The waterproof shirt is treated with a highly effective 'secret' formula, making water run off its surface in much the same way water rolls off the feathers of a swan, hence the company name - Swannndri.

R. M. WILLIAMS
EST. 1932. AUSTRALIA

R.M.Williams was a South Australian born bushman who, in 1932 crafted his first pair of riding boots. Drawing on his bush and horse riding experience, RM knew his boots had to be durable enough to outlast the harshest bush conditions, yet handsome enough to be polished up and worn in town. R.M.Williams still manufacture boots, jeans, belts and accessories at their factory in SA today. The handcrafted boots are still made with the now signature trademark feature of a whole piece of high-quality leather, with a single line of stitching at the back. They're a great South Australian icon still going strong. The range now includes an impressive array of shirts, rugs, polos, jackets and vests for all seasons.

Ariat was established in 1990 by Pam Parker and Beth Cross who identified a need for light weight, comfortable and economical riding boots. Together with elite equestrian athletes and a team of designers, they set out to develop the most technologically advanced riding boots for the novice, right through to elite riders. Today, Ariat offer a full range of stylish, lightweight Western and English riding boots, safety and non-safety work boots, casual footwear, clothing, wallets, belts and hugely popular gear bags.

Blundstone was established in 1870 and despite growing to become one of the world's most recognizable boot brands, the company is still a family owned Tasmanian business. Blundstones have the kind of iconic, rugged good looks that feel right at home, wherever that may be. The way they look is matched only by how comfortable they feel. At Blundstone, safety is part of their heritage. Their safety styles are built to last, with features that provide optimum protection.

Wrangler

In 1904 the Hudson Overall Company operated from a loft in North Carolina, USA. By 1919 the company had expanded and changed their name to the Blue Bell Overall Company. Legend has it that it was named Blue Bell after a factory bell which became covered with blue dust from making denim clothing. In 1943 Blue Bell acquired the rights to a rarely used name brand - Wrangler - and the legendary brand was born. Wrangler quickly established a reputation for toughness and quality that made it the preferred jean for cowboys and cowgirls everywhere. In 1947 the famous 13MWZ Jean was created. 13MWZ was short for 'thirteenth version men's jean with zipper' which is still Wrangler's biggest selling jean. Today 97% of Pro Rodeo cowboys & cowgirls wear Wrangler.

Allingtons have come a long way since those relatively humble beginnings. In October 2001 the business was renamed Allington's Outpost to reflect the greater variety of country clothing, work and western wear. The name change coincided with the move from the smaller Golden Grove store to the larger, more prominent premises on Main North Road at Parafield, growing and developing to what it is today. Proudly South Australian for over 40 years, Allingtons has grown into one of the largest companies of its type in Australia. We attribute this to our philosophy of offering the best brands, most extensive range and best service to our valued customers offering a unique and pleasurable shopping experience. At Allingtons, we cater for the whole family with a fantastic range of Country Clothing, Western & Work Wear, Boots, Hats, Jeans, and Oilskins.
